Indeed, there are many men and women who have their notions of truthfulness so it is a cultivated sin; with some it seems a natural infirmity.

I have known people who seemed to have been born liars. The falsehoods of their lives extended from cradle to grave. Prevarications, misrepresentation and dishonesty of speech appeared in their first utterances, and were as PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPING GARS natural to them as any of their infantile diseases, and were a sort of moral croup or spiritual scarlatina.

The air of the city is filled with falsehoods. They hang pendant from the chandeliers of our finest residences; they crowd the shelves of some of our merchant princes; they fill the sidewalk from curbstone to brownstone facing. They cluster around the mechanic's hammer and blossom from the end of the merchant's yardstick and sit in the doors of the churches. Some call Some style them "fab
